Dear Andrew,

    From all of us here at the Center for Biological Diversity, thank you to everyone at Endow-Bio for supporting our work with a gift of $1,200.58, received on 1/11/2013 in support of the Center's legal work protecting rare species in the United States. This gift will help us continue our critical work to protect endangered species and the climate, oceans, forests and wildlands on which we all depend.

    With this gift, we'll continue making major strides forward in the coming months to safeguard species including whales, polar bears, frogs, fish, wolves and butterflies. We'll also tackle tough issues such as stopping destructive development and fracking on our wildlands, getting dangerous pesticides and toxic lead out of our waterways and addressing the impacts of human population.

    We're honored that your supporters have chosen the Center to receive this contribution. We'll keep you updated on how we're using these funds by e-mailing you our special quarterly updates on key Center campaigns and the most pressing national issues. If you are not already on our regular e-mail list and would like to receive our weekly online newsletter and e-mail alerts, you can sign up on our website at www.BiologicalDiversity.org, or let me know and I'll add you to the list.

    Thanks again for making our work possible with this generous gift. We'll keep you updated on our campaigns and hope you'll keep your supporters informed of how we're using these funds. Please contact me, Sarah Bergman, our assistant director or Julie Ragland anytime if you'd like to know more, get involved or update your information.

Sincerely,

Kierán Suckling
